

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

The following Manual is so arranged that the chapters of the Revised Laws dealing with the field of charity are given consecutively. Appended to each section of each of these chapters is all of the law appertaining that has been enacted since the Revised Laws were codified, in 1902. All subsequent laws that deal with the general subject of the chapter, but do not amend or repeal specific sections, appear under "Additional Legislation" directly following the amendments.

All law presently in force appears in full-size type. All portions of the Revised Laws and subsequent acts that have been repealed, superseded or amended appear in small type. This plan is followed because, though the superseded laws are essential to the determination of many cases and must therefore appear in the Manual, there should be some mark or contrast that will readily distinguish the living statutes from the background out of which they project.

The footnotes in this volume represent a partial digest of the Massachusetts decisions bearing upon the text. They are not to be taken as authoritative, and are intended merely as a guide and reference for agents of the Board and others making use of the Manual.

A city or town may erect or provide a workhouse or almshouse for the employment and support of indigent persons maintained by or receiving alms from it; of persons who, being able to work and not having estate or means otherwise to maintain themselves, refuse or neglect to work; of persons who live a dissolute, vagrant life and exercise no ordinary calling or lawful business; of persons who spend their time and property in public houses to the neglect of their proper business or who, by otherwise misspending their earnings, are likely to become chargeable to the city or town; and of other persons sent thereto under any provisions of law.¹

AN ACT RELATIVE TO THE CUSTODY OF PERSONS COMMITTED TO WORKHOUSES OR ALMSHOUSES FOR CRIMINAL OFFENCES.

Persons committed to almshouses, etc., for criminal offences to be confined in separate quarters, etc.

SECTION 1. [Amended by 1905, 348, infra.] Persons committed to any workhouse or almshouse established under the provisions of section one of chapter thirty of the Revised Laws, for vagrancy, drunkenness or petit larceny, or as night walkers, rogues or vagabonds, or for any other offence against the laws of the commonwealth, shall be confined in separate and distinct quarters in such workhouse or almshouse and shall not be permitted to associate or communicate with the pauper inmates thereof.

¹ Where the municipal authorities provide supplies for the relief of the poor outside the almshouse to be distributed upon order of the overseers and have notified the overseers to that effect, the said overseers have no authority to contract debts for supplies; and a person furnishing such supplies with knowledge of the action of the authorities cannot recover on a claim for goods sold and delivered. Ireland v. Newburyport (1864), 8 Allen, 73. A written agreement to employ a warden beyond the current year, where the overseers contracting for the town cease as a board to exist at the expiration of such year, cannot be enforced against the town in the absence of ratification by the succeeding board. And such ratification to be valid must have been made by the succeeding overseers as a body and not individually. Reed v. Lancaster (1890), 152 Mass. 500. A city or town is not liable for an injury to an inmate of its workhouse though sustained in the course of labor from which the city or town derives a profit. Curran v. Boston (1890), 151 Mass. 505. A pauper cannot recover from a city or town for services rendered by him as an inmate of its almshouse. Nor can a city or town recover from a former inmate of its almshouse for money expended for his use, where it appears that while being so supported he rendered service as an inmate equal in value to the cost of his support. Taunton v. Talbot (1904), 186 Mass. 341. But in general a pauper is entitled to set up the value of services rendered to the town in recoupment against a claim for aid rendered. Millie v. Frink (1913), 213 Mass. 350.

SECTION 2. Any officer or other person having authority in or over any workhouse or almshouse as aforesaid, who knowingly violates the provisions of this chapter, shall be punished by a fine of not more than three hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SECTION 3. This act shall take effect on the first day of October in the year nineteen hundred and four. [Approved April 30, 1904.]

Legal settle-

C. L. 123, § 2.

SECTION 1. Legal settlements may be acquired in any city or town in the following manner, and not otherwise:¹

1692-3, 28, § 9.	R. S. 45, § 1.	97 Mass. 382.
1700-1, 23, § 5.	G. S. 69, § 1.	138 Mass. 305.

1793, 34, § 2.

— by married women.
1789, 14, § 3.
12 Mass. 363.
13 Allen, 88.

First, A married woman shall follow and have the settlement of her husband if he has any within the commonwealth; otherwise, she shall retain her own at the time of marriage if she then had any.²

mate children.
1789, 14, § 3.
12 Mass. 428.
13 Mass. 468.

Second, Legitimate children shall follow and have the settlement of their father if he has any within the commonwealth; otherwise, they shall follow and have the settlement of their mother if she has any.³

— by illegitimate
children.
1789, 14, § 3.
13 Mass. 381.
8 Cush. 75.
8 Allen, 551.

Third, Illegitimate children shall have the settlement of their mother at the time of their birth if she then has any within the commonwealth.⁴

¹ "The privilege or qualification of having a settlement is personal, and attends and attaches to the person." Shaw, C.J., in Great Barrington v. Tyringham (1836), 18 Pick. 264, at 265. Where the town records show votes which contain admissions that a pauper is settled therein, such records are admissible to prove such settlement and warrant a finding to that effect. Bridgewater v. Wareham (1885), 138 Mass. 305.

² "The purpose of the first clause (see 1911, 669, § 1, cl. 2) was to recognize the merger of the wife by the marriage relation, and the right of the husband to fix their domicile; and if he failed to maintain it for a sufficient time to acquire a settlement which by force of law should also be that of his wife, then she should not lose her own by reason of her marriage." Braley, J., in Bradford v. Worcester (1903), 184 Mass. 557, at 559. A contract of marriage void by reason of one of the parties having been non compos mentis at the time of contracting will not operate to destroy a settlement held by a woman prior to such contract. Middleboro v. Rochester (1815), 12 Mass. 363.

³ "The general principle is, that every person, who is by law incapable of gaining a settlement in his own right, shall have the settlement of that person, on whom he depends for support; who at the same time has the control of this person, and the right to his services." Wilde, J., in Dedham v. Natick (1819), 16 Mass. 135, at 139. Hence, the settlement of a widow, acquired by her after the death of her husband, is communicated to her infant children. Idem. A person non compos mentis is incapable of gaining a settlement by his own act. Phillip v. Boston (1903), 183 Mass. 314. Thus a legitimate child who is non compos mentis upon reaching 21 is incapable of gaining a settlement for himself and therefore follows the settlement of his father. Upton v. Northbridge (1818), 15 Mass. 237. But incipient insanity which does not render him incapable of making a valid contract, will not so operate. Buckland v. Charlemont (1825), 3 Pick. 173. Marriage of a female child during minority works an emancipation thereby rendering her incapable of following the settlement of her parents. Charlestown v. Boston (1816), 13 Mass. 469.

Fourth, A person of the age of twenty-one years who has an estate of inheritance or freehold in any place within the commonwealth and lives thereon three consecutive years shall thereby acquire a settlement in such place.¹

ments by freeholders, etc.

Fifth, A person of the age of twenty-one years who resides in any place within this commonwealth for five consecutive years and within that time pays all state, county, city or town taxes duly assessed on his poll or estate for any three years within that time shall thereby acquire a settlement in such place.¹

§§ 1, 3.

Sixth, A woman of the age of twenty-one years, including a married woman who has no settlement derived by marriage under the provisions of the first clause, and a widow, who resides in any place within this commonwealth for five consecutive years, shall thereby acquire a settlement in such place.²

130 Mass. 357.

¹ Where the statute calls for a term of residence by which a settlement may be gained such term must have begun upon or after the passage of the act. Rutland v. Mendon (1822), 1 Pick. 154. Residence within the meaning of this statute is held to indicate domiciliary residence merely. Thus an interval of absence but without change of domicile did not interrupt the residence for the purpose of gaining a settlement. Lee v. Lenox (1860), 15 Gray, 496; Wilbraham v. Ludlow (1868), 99 Mass. 587. Where the statute requires a definite period of residence in order to gain a settlement such settlement will be gained by a person who while mentally competent to contract and exercise choice takes up such residence even though he become non compos mentis before the expiration of the required period. This conclusion is based upon the fundamental rule that a state of things once shown to exist is presumed to continue until a change is proved. Chicopes v. Whately (1863), 6 Allen, 508. Under the provisions of § 1, cl. 5, the three years in which all taxes are paid must fall within the five years of residence. Thus where the third full tax year had not been completed when the person ceased to be capable of gaining a settlement, it was held that no settlement was gained. Taunton v. Wareham (1891), 153 Mass. 192. "Ordinarily the word 'resides' may be construed as having a residence in a place and to be there, settled as a home, and in our laws relating to taxation, voting and settlement of paupers has the same meaning as domicile." Braley, J., in Phillips v. Boston (1903), 183 Mass. 314, p. 315. "In general terms, one may be designated as an inhabitant of that place, which constitutes the principal seat of his residence, of his business, pursuits, connections, attachments, and of his political and municipal relations. It is manifest, therefore, that it embraces the fact of residence at a place, with the intent to regard it and make it his home. The act and intent must concur and the intent may be inferred from declaration and conduct." Shaw, C.J., in Lyman v. Fiske (1835), 17 Pick. 231, at 234. An abatement of tax presupposes the assessment not duly made. Vide Billerica v. Chelmsford (1813), 10 Mass. 394.

² The provisions of § 1, cl. 6, save in the exception stated, do not apply to married women. See Somerville v. Boston (1876), 120 Mass. 574. A married woman may acquire a settlement by residence apart from her husband where separate domicile is equally established. See Clark v. Clark (1906), 191 Mass. 128.

Seventh, A person who is chosen and actually serves one whole year or for such period as is included between two successive annual town elections as clerk, treasurer, selectman, overseer of the poor, assessor, constable or collector of taxes in any place shall thereby acquire a settlement therein.

Eighth, A settled ordained minister of the gospel shall acquire a settlement in the place wherein he is settled as a minister. 7 Allen, 90.

Ninth, A minor who serves an apprenticeship to a lawful trade for four years in any place, and actually sets up such trade therein within one year after the expiration of said term, being then twenty-one years of age, and continues there to carry on the same for five years, other than as a hired journeyman, shall thereby acquire a settlement in such place.

Tenth, [embodied in 1911, 669, § 1, cl. 5, infra] A person who was enlisted and mustered into the military or naval service of the United States, as a part of the quota of a city or town in this commonwealth, under any call of the President of the United States during the war of the rebellion or who was assigned as a part of the quota thereof after having been enlisted and mustered into said service, and who served for not less than one year, or died or became disabled from wounds or disease received or contracted while engaged in such service, or while a prisoner of the enemy, and his wife or widow and minor children, shall be deemed thereby to have acquired a settlement in such place; and any person who would otherwise be entitled to a settlement under this clause, but who was not a part of the quota of any city or town, shall, if he served as a part of the quota of the commonwealth, be deemed to have acquired a settlement in the place where he actually resided at the time of his enlistment. But these provisions shall not apply to any person who was enlisted and received a bounty for such enlistment in more than one place unless the second enlistment was made after an honorable discharge from the first term of service, nor to any person who has been proved guilty of wilful desertion, or who left the service otherwise than by reason of disability or an honorable discharge.¹

Eleventh, [embodied in 1911, 669, § 1, cl. 6] Upon the division of a city or town, every person having a legal settlement therein, but being absent at the time of such division, and not having acquired a legal settlement elsewhere, shall have his legal settlement in the city or town containing the last dwelling place or home which he had in the city or town so divided; and if a new city or town, composed of a part of one or more other cities or towns, is incorporated, every person legally settled in the places of which such new city or town is so composed, and who actually dwells and has his home within the bounds of such new city or town at the time of its incorporation, and any person duly qualified as provided in the tenth clause of this section, who, at the time of his enlistment, dwelt and had his home within such bounds, shall thereby acquire a legal settlement in such new place; but no person residing in that part of a place which upon such division is incorporated into a new city or town, and who then has no legal settlement therein, shall acquire any by force of such incorporation only; nor shall such incorporation prevent his acquiring a settlement therein within the time and by the means by which he would have gained it there if no such division had been made.

SECTION 2. No person shall acquire a settlement, or be in process of acquiring a settlement, while receiving relief as a pauper, unless, within five years after the time of receiving such relief, he reimburses the cost thereof to the city or town furnishing the same.¹

¹ A person supported in a prison while serving sentence is not "receiving relief as a pauper." Whately v. Hatfield (1907), 196 Mass. 393. (See 1911, 669, § 2.) A man cannot gain a settlement while his wife is with his knowledge receiving relief as a pauper. Oakham v. Warwick (1866), 13 Allen, 88; Charlestown v. Groveland (1859), 15 Gray, 15. Per contra, if such relief be given without his knowledge and without demand upon him for reimbursement. Berkeley v. Taunton (1837), 19 Pick. 480; *Wareham v. And it is not requisite that such public relief be rendered by the city or town in which he is in process of gaining a settlement. Worcester v. Auburn (1862), 4 Allen, 574. But this provision does not hold in the case of a stepchild since the father is not legally bound to support it. Brookfield v. Warren (1880), 128 Mass. 287. Where the statute provides that the interruption to the gaining of a settlement caused by receiving relief as a pauper may be removed by reimbursement, it is not necessary to wait until the expiration of the time named in such provision before bringing action against the place of present settlement. Dedham v. Milton (1884), 136 Mass. 424.

Any settlement which was not fully acquired subsequent to the first day of May in the year eighteen hundred and sixty is hereby defeated and lost, unless such settlement prevented a subsequent acquisition of settlement in the same place; but if a settlement acquired by marriage is so defeated, the former settlement of the wife, if not also so defeated, shall be revived. AN ACT RELATIVE TO LEGAL SETTLEMENTS.

of legal settlement.

SECTION 1. Legal settlements may be acquired in any city or town in the following manner and not otherwise:—

First, Any man or woman, including a married woman whose husband has no settlement within the commonwealth, of the age of twenty-one years, who hereafter resides in any city or town within this commonwealth for five consecutive years, shall thereby acquire a settlement in such place.

Second, A married woman shall follow and have the settlement of her husband if he has any within the commonwealth; otherwise, she shall retain her own at the time of marriage if she then had any.

Third, Legitimate children shall follow and have the settlement of their father if he has any within the commonwealth; otherwise, they shall follow and have the settlement of their mother if she has any; if the father dies during the minority of his children they shall thereafter follow and have the settlement of their mother; in the event of the divorce of the parents the minor children shall follow and have the settlement of the parent to whom the court awards the custody of said minor children.

Fourth, Illegitimate children shall follow and have the settlement of their mother if she has any within the commonwealth.

¹ Section 6 is not retroactive. Lawrence v. Methuen (1905), 187 Mass. 592. The provision of R. L., c. 80, § 6, that "a person who is absent from the commonwealth for ten consecutive years shall lose his settlement," is applicable to an insane person who was removed to an asylum in another State and there maintained for more than ten consecutive years. 3 Op. A. G. 207 (March 5, 1909).

Fifth, A person who enlisted and was mustered into the military or naval service of the United States, as a part of the quota of a city or town in this commonwealth under any call of the president of the United States during the war of the rebellion, or who was assigned as a part of the quota thereof after having enlisted and been mustered into said service, and who served for not less than one year, or who died or became disabled from wounds or disease received or contracted while engaged in such service, or while a prisoner of the enemy, and his wife or widow and minor children shall be deemed thereby to have acquired a settlement in such place; and any person who would otherwise be entitled to a settlement under this clause, but who was not a part of the quota of any city or town, shall, if he served as a part of the quota of the commonwealth, be deemed to have acquired a settlement in the place where he actually resided at the time of his enlistment. But these provisions shall not apply to any person who enlisted and received a bounty for such enlistment in more than one place unless the second enlistment was made after an honorable discharge from the first term of service, nor to any person who has been proved guilty of wilful desertion, or who left the service otherwise than by reason of disability or an honorable discharge.

Sixth, Upon the division of a city or town, every person having a legal settlement therein, but being absent at the time of such division, and not having acquired a legal settlement elsewhere, shall have his legal settlement in the city or town containing the last dwelling place or home which he had in the city or town so divided; and, if a new city or town, composed of a part of one or more other cities or towns, is incorporated, every person legally settled in any of the places of which such new city or town is so composed, and who actually dwells and has his home within the bounds of such new city or town at the time of its incorporation, and any person duly qualified as provided in the fifth clause of this section, who, at the time of his enlistment, dwelt and had his home within such bounds, shall thereby acquire a legal settlement in such new city or town; but no person residing in that part of a city or town which upon such division is incorporated into a new city or town, and who then has no legal settlement therein, shall acquire any by force of the incorporation only; nor shall such incorporation prevent his acquiring a settlement therein within the time and by the means by which he would have gained it there if no such division had been made.

Persons receiving relief as paupers not to acquire settlement unless, etc.

SECTION 2. No person shall acquire a settlement, or be in process of acquiring a settlement, while receiving relief as a pauper, unless, within two years after the time of receiving such relief, he tenders reimbursement of the cost thereof to the commonwealth, or to the city or town furnishing the same.

Certain persons not to be deemed paupers.

SECTION 3. [Amended by 1913, 266, infra.] No person who actually supports himself and his family shall be deemed to be a pauper by reason of the commitment of his wife, child or other relative to an insane hospital or other institution of charity, reform or correction by order of a court or magistrate, and of his inability to maintain the wife, child or relative therein.

AN ACT TO PROVIDE THAT CERTAIN NEEDY PERSONS SHALL NOT BE TERMED PAUPERS.

1911, 669, § 3, etc., amended.

SECTION 1. Section three of chapter six hundred and sixty-nine of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and eleven is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the words:— or who, to the best of his ability, has attempted to provide for himself and his dependents and has not been a mendicant, and who, through no crime or misdemeanor of his own, has come into grievous need and receives aid or assistance given temporarily, or partial support continuously, to him or his family: provided, that nothing in this act shall be construed to affect, directly or indirectly, settlement, poor or pauper laws, or laws by which any charity, aid or assistance is furnished by public authority, — so as to read as follows:— Section 3. No person who actually supports himself and his family shall be deemed to be a pauper by reason of the commitment of his wife, child or other relative to an insane hospital or other institution of charity, reform or correction by order of a court or magistrate, and of his inability to maintain the wife, child or relative therein; or who, to the best of his ability, has attempted to provide for himself and his dependents and has not been a mendicant, and who, through no crime or misdemeanor of his own, has come into grievous need and receives aid or assistance given temporarily, or partial support continuously, to him or his family: provided, that nothing in this act shall be construed to affect, directly or indirectly, settlement, poor or pauper laws, or laws by which any charity, aid or assistance is furnished by public authority.

Certain persons not to be deemed paupers.

Proviso.

SECTION 2. This act shall take effect upon its passage.
[Approved March 8, 1913.]

SECTION 4. [See also 1914, 323, infra.] A person who, after the passage of this act, is absent for five consecutive years from the city or town in which he had a settlement shall thereby lose his settlement. But the time during which a person shall have been an inmate of any public hospital, public sanatorium, almshouse, jail, prison, or other public institution, within the commonwealth, or of a soldiers' or sailors' home whether within or without the commonwealth, shall not be counted in computing the time either for acquiring or for losing a settlement, except as provided in section two.

Loss of settlement.

SECTION 5. All existing settlements shall continue in force until changed or defeated by the provisions of this act, and no person who has begun to acquire a settlement by the laws in force at and before the time when this act takes effect, in any of the ways in which any period of time is prescribed for a residence or for the continuance or succession of any other act, shall be prevented or delayed by the provisions hereof, but he shall acquire a settlement by a continuance or succession of the same residence or other act, in the same time and manner as if the former laws had continued in force.

A settlement not fully acquired to be defeated by this act.

SECTION 6. Any settlement which was not fully acquired subsequent to the first day of May in the year eighteen hundred and sixty is hereby defeated and lost, unless such settlement prevented a subsequent acquisition of settlement in the same place; but if a settlement acquired by marriage is so defeated, the former settlement of the wife, if not also so defeated, shall be revived.

In determining the settlement of a person who is or has been an inmate of a state sanatorium or hospital or other state institution, the time during which he was in the institution, or during which he was in any manner under the care or direction of such institution or of any officer connected therewith, shall not be reckoned in determining the length of his residence in the city or town in which such institution is situated.

¹ "The liability of towns to support poor persons is founded upon and limited by statute, and is not to be enlarged or modified by any supposed moral obligation." Shaw, C.J., in Smith v. Colrain (1845), 9 Met. 492, at 495. Thus, the liability of a town for aid rendered to poor persons by citizens after notice does not extend to such aid rendered outside the town. Idem. The community is under no moral or natural obligation to relieve its poor. The duty is therefore of mere positive obligation, created and charged upon it by the statute. The nature and extent of such obligation are consequently limited and controlled by the statute. See Shaw, C.J., in East Sudbury v. Sudbury (1831), 12 Pick. 1, at 6.

² Under § 2 the overseers may provide support in another city or town. Smith v. Peabody (1871), 106 Mass. 262. They may send children to a proper home in a distant place even against the wishes and without the consent of their parents who are not of sufficient ability to support them. Idem. The word support in this statute includes maintenance as distinguished from mere board. Gould v. Lawrence (1893), 160 Mass. 232. The overseers of the poor can legally bind their town by a contract for the support in another town of a person lawfully settled in their town who is too sick to be removed and is in immediate need of relief. Aldrich v. Blackstone (1879), 128 Mass. 148. Such a contract, being a work of necessity or charity, is valid though executed on the Lord's day. Idem.

In towns in which paupers are provided for in families, the overseers of the poor shall investigate each place where the town paupers are to be so provided for, and shall endeavor by contract to secure their proper care and maintenance. A full and complete record of each case shall be kept, showing the terms of the contract and what services, if any, are to be rendered by the paupers. A majority of the overseers of the poor shall certify upon the records that such investigation has been made in each case, and that they are satisfied that the paupers will be properly cared for. The overseers of the poor, either by one of their own number or by a duly appointed agent, shall, at least once in every six months, visit each place where the town paupers are supported, and a record of each visit and of the condition of the paupers visited shall be kept.¹

² The word "kindred" includes only blood relationship: thus the husband is liable to the town for relief given to his wife as a pauper, but his liability is at common law and not by virtue of this section of the statute. Brookfield v. Allen (1863), 6 Allen, 585. In like manner a stepfather is not within the statute and pauper relief to his stepchild will not make him a pauper. Brookfield v. Warren (1880), 128 Mass. 287. Sed per contra if he takes them into his family, for in that case he stands in loco parentis, and, in the absence of express contract or other circumstance showing a different arrangement, has a right to their services and is liable for their support and education. Mulhern v. McDavitt (1860), 16 Gray, 404; Livingston v. Hammond (1894), 162 Mass. 375; Kirchgassner v. Rodick (1898), 170 Mass. 543. The liability of a grandfather under R. L., c. 81, §§ 10, 11, to reimburse a town for expense incurred for the support of a pauper grandchild who is a minor is not affected by the fact that, when the support was furnished by the town, another person had been appointed by the probate court the guardian of the grandchild with the custody of his person. Fairhaven v. Howland (1913), 216 Mass. 149. The term "such poor persons" in § 10 is not confined to persons who have been public charges, but includes all poor and indigent persons standing in need of relief. Hutchings v. Thompson (1852), 10 Cush. 238. So also the term "such pauper" in § 11. Idem. The term "of sufficient ability" means present ability; not ability to pay the assessment under all the uncertain contingencies which might happen in the future. Templeton v. Stratton (1879), 128 Mass. 137.

Judgment conclusive.

¹ Overseers of the poor in extending aid to a person "standing in need of immediate relief" are justified in extending such aid when in their best judgment upon the evidence presented and after vigilant inquiry such need exists; and reimbursement is recoverable against the place of settlement even though it may appear that the person relieved possessed property. Palmer v. Hampden (1903), 182 Mass. 511. But expenses to be recoverable must have been incurred within three months prior to notice. It is not sufficient that they be merely paid within that time. East Sudbury v. Sudbury (1831), 12 Pick. 1. Such recovery may be had within the provisions of this section for all expenses down to the date of the writ. Northampton v. Plainfield (1895), 164 Mass. 506. An action brought by one town against another for the support of a pauper will not bar an action against the same defendant by a third town for the support of the same pauper, because the parties plaintiff are not the same and there is no privity between them. See dictum in Winthrop v. Athol (1913), 216 Mass. 79. A right of action against the place of settlement will not bar an action against relatives legally bound to pay. Hanover v. Turner (1817), 14 Mass. 227. A notice signed by individuals as selectmen who are in fact overseers of the poor is sufficient. Ashby v. Lunenburg (1829), 8 Pick. 562.

SECTION 19. If a pauper is supported in a place in which he has no settlement, the place liable for his support shall not be required to pay therefor more than at the rate of two dollars a week if it causes him to be removed within thirty days after receiving legal notice that such support has been furnished.¹

SECTION 20. The overseers of the poor of each place shall also relieve and support and may employ all poor persons residing or found therein, having no lawful settlements within this commonwealth, until their removal to the state hospital, and if they die shall decently bury them. They shall also decently bury all deceased persons who, although without means of support while living did not apply for public relief, and all unknown persons found dead. The expense thereof may be recovered of their kindred, if any, chargeable by law for their support in the manner hereinbefore provided; and if the expense of their burial is not paid by such kindred, an amount not exceeding fifteen dollars for the funeral expenses of each pauper over twelve years of age, and not exceeding ten dollars for the funeral expenses of each pauper under that age, shall be paid by the commonwealth.

SECTION 21. [Amended by 1903, 355, infra.] A city or town may furnish aid to poor persons found therein, having no lawful settlements within the commonwealth, if the overseers of the poor consider it for the public interest; but, except in cases under the provisions of section fourteen of chapter eighty-five, not for a greater amount than two dollars a week for each family during the months of May to September, inclusive, or three dollars a week during the other months; and the overseers shall in every case give immediate notice in writing to the state board of charity, which ¹ An agreement of parties by which the plaintiff claim is paid together with costs and a non-entry of writ is filed does not constitute a "recovery" within the terms of § 18. Wenham v. Essex (1869), 103 Mass. 117. In computing time from the date, or day of the date, or from a certain act or event, the day of the date is excluded. Seekonk v. Rehoboth (1851), 8 Cush. 371. Hence, in the application of § 19, the day on which legal notice is received is excluded. See also Bemis v. Leonard (1875), 118 Mass. 502. The provisions of § 19 are to be construed strictly. Thus the removal, within thirty days after notice, of a dead pauper's corpse does not constitute a removal, and the relieving town is consequently not limited to the recovery named in the section. Webster v. Uzbridge (1847), 13 Met. 198.

A detailed statement of expenses so incurred shall be rendered, and after approval by the state board, such expenses shall be paid by the commonwealth.¹

AN ACT RELATIVE TO THE REMOVAL OF STATE PAUPERS TO THE STATE HOSPITAL OR OTHER STATE INSTITUTIONS.

[Amended by 1912, 331, infra.]

SECTION 1. Section twenty-one of chapter eighty-one of the Revised Laws is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following:— If any such person refuses to submit to removal the state board of charity, or any of its officers or agents, may apply to the district, municipal or police court of the district where such person resides, or to any trial justice, for an order directing that such removal be made. Upon such application the court or magistrate shall forthwith cause a summons to be served upon the person so refusing, and, if he be a minor, upon his parent or guardian, requiring the attendance of the person so summoned at a time and place appointed therein for hearing; and at such time and place shall hear and examine upon oath such person or persons, and shall hear such other evidence as may be material. If upon hearing it appears that the person sought to be removed is without a legal settlement in this commonwealth and is unable to support himself, and that his necessities or the public interests require his removal, the court or magistrate shall issue an order in writing, directed to a duly constituted officer or agent of the state board of charity, reciting that such person appears to be a state pauper, and that his necessities or the public interests require his removal, and commanding such officer or agent to remove him to the state hospital or to any other state institution designated by the state board of charity, and such officer or agent shall thereupon make the removal as ordered. After the removal is made such officer or agent shall file such order, with his return thereon, with the clerk of the court from which it was issued, or if issued by a trial justice it shall be filed with him. In every case where removal is ordered a detailed statement of the expense incurred by any city or town for the support of the person so removed while application for his removal was pending before the court, shall be rendered, and after approval by the state board shall be paid by the commonwealth,— so as ¹ If the family of an unsettled person suffering from contagious disease dangerous to the public health, but not quarantined, is aided for the reason that such family are unable to maintain themselves, and are, therefore, a charge to the city or town where they are domiciled, such aid should be rendered by the overseers of the poor under the provisions of R. L., c. 81, § 21, the temporary aid law, so called, and subject to the restrictions therein contained. If the board of health of such city or town expends money for the support of the family of a person infected with a contagious disease, and therefore quarantined with his family, such expense is incurred for the preservation of the public health, and cannot be recovered either from the city or town where such persons are settled, or from the Commonwealth if such persons have no settlement. 3 Op. AN ACT RELATIVE TO REIMBURSING CITIES AND TOWNS FOR AID RENDERED TO PERSONS WITHOUT SETTLEMENT.

SECTION 1. Section twenty-one of chapter eighty-one of the Revised Laws, as amended by chapter three hundred and fifty-five of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and three, is hereby further amended by inserting after the word "months", in the ninth line, the words:— except as otherwise ordered by the state board of charity, — so as to read as follows:— Section 21. A city or town may furnish aid to poor persons found therein, having no lawful settlements within the commonwealth, if the overseers of the poor consider it for the public interest; but, except in cases under the provisions of section fourteen of chapter eighty-five, not for a greater amount than two dollars a week for each family during the months of May to September, inclusive, or three dollars a week during the other months, except as otherwise ordered by the state board of charity; and the overseers shall in every case give immediate notice in writing to the state board of charity, which shall examine the case and if it directs a discontinuance of such aid, shall remove such persons to the state hospital or to any state or place where they belong, if their necessities or the public interest requires it, and the superintendent of said hospital shall receive the persons removed thereto as if they were sent there in accordance with the provisions of section seven of chapter eighty-five. Upon such application the court or magistrate shall forthwith cause a summons to be served upon the person so refusing, and, if he be a minor, upon his parent or guardian, requiring the attendance of the person so summoned at a time and place appointed therein for hearing; and at such time and place shall hear and examine upon oath such person or persons, and shall hear such other evidence as may be material. If upon hearing it appears that the person sought to be

After the removal is made such officer or agent shall file such order, with his return thereon, with the clerk of the court from which it was issued, or if issued by a trial justice it shall be filed with him. If, within one month after receiving such notice, the overseers of the latter place do not cause such removal to be made or a statement in writing signed by one or more of them of their objections to the removal to be transmitted to the overseers requesting such removal, the overseers who requested the removal may, by a written order directed to a person therein designated, cause the pauper to be removed to the place of his supposed settlement; and the overseers thereof shall receive and provide for him; and such place shall be liable in an action to the place incurring the same for the expenses of his support and removal, and shall be barred from contesting the question of settlement in such action unless the settlement is denied in said statement.²

For further provisions as to what may be included in the liability, see 1909, 292, p. 86, infra.

¹ The notice provided in § 32 is defective if it contains a material error in the name of the pauper. Boston v. Acton (1897), 167 Mass. 579; Or a mistake as to the number of children in the pauper's family. Carver v. Taunton (1891), 152 Mass. 486; see also, Granville v. Southampton (1884), 138 Mass. 256. But not so in case the town notified waives the defect by replying without objection to the form of the notice. Brookfield v. N. Brookfield (1905), 186 Mass. 524; Northfield v. Taunton (1842), 4 Met. 433. Neither is a town barred from showing settlement of a pauper gained by certain means though in their notice to the defendant town they in good faith indicated other means as the basis for the settlement. Idem. A defective notice may be cured by subsequent correction in writing which refers to the first communication. Shelburne v. Rochester (1823), 1 Pick. 470. The reply to a valid notice must be signed by some one of the overseers to be effective; if not, it is more than defective, since it is not made by the proper person in authority. Consequently it cannot be cured by estoppel. Petersham v. Colrain (1864), 9 Allen, 91. Where notice is sent by the relieving town and is replied to within the requirements of this section, the town sought to be charged is not estopped from controverting settlement by its failure to reply to a second notice involving the same subject matter sent by the relieving towns within two years after the first notice. Mashpee v. Edgartown (1839), 23 Pick. 156. Though failure to reply to proper notice estops the town sought to be charged from denying the fact of settlement, such estoppel does not extend to proof that the person aided was not in need of immediate relief. New Bedford v. Hingham (1875) 117 Mass. 445.

² Under § 33 recovery may be had for expenses of burial of a pauper as well as for support and removal. Topsham v. Harpswell (1805), 1 Mass. 517.

SECTION 34. The notice and statement mentioned in the two preceding sections may be sent by mail; and if directed to the overseers of the poor of the place intended to be notified or answered, postage prepaid, shall be a sufficient notice or answer, and shall be considered as delivered to the overseers to whom it is directed at the time when it is received in the post office of the place to which it is directed and in which they reside.

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR SUITABLY AIDING MOTHERS WITH DEPENDENT CHILDREN.

SECTION 1. In every city and town the overseers of the poor shall, subject to the provisions of the subsequent sections of this act, aid all mothers with dependent children under fourteen years of age, if such mothers are fit to bring up their children. The aid furnished shall be sufficient to enable the mothers to bring up their children properly in their own homes; and such mothers and their children shall not be deemed to be paupers by reason of receiving aid as aforesaid.

Cities and towns to furnish aid to mothers with dependent children.

SECTION 2. Before aiding any mother under the foregoing section, except as hereinafter provided, the overseers of the poor shall determine that the mother is fit to bring up her children and that the other members of the household and the surroundings of the home are such as to make for good character, and that aid from the overseers is necessary to enable her to bring up her children properly, by making an immediate and careful inquiry including the resources of the family and the ability of its other members, if any, to work or otherwise contribute to its support, the existence of relatives able to assist the family, and of individuals, societies or agencies who may be interested therein; shall take all lawful means to compel all persons bound to support the mother and children to support them, and to enforce any other legal rights for their benefit; shall press all members of the family who are able to work, other than the mother and her dependent children, to secure work; shall try to secure work for them; and shall secure all necessary aid for the mother and children which can be secured from relatives, organizations or individuals. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the overseers from giving prompt and suitable temporary aid hereunder, pending compliance with the requirements of this section, when in their opinion such aid is necessary and cannot be obtained from other sources. A detailed statement of expenses incurred under this section shall be rendered to the state board of charity, together with such certificates or other guarantees as the said board may require.

Same subject.

SECTION 3. The said overseers, either by one of their own number or by their duly appointed agent, shall visit at least once in every three months at their homes or other place or places where they may be living, each mother and her dependent children who are being aided financially or otherwise by said overseers, and after each visit shall make and keep on file as a part of their official records a detailed statement of the condition of the home and family and all other data which may assist in determining the wisdom of the measures taken and the advisability of their continuance; and said overseers shall at least once in each year reconsider the case of each mother with dependent children with whom they are dealing, and enter their determination with the reason therefor on their official records.

To whom this act shall apply.

SECTION 4. This act shall apply to all mothers and their dependent children, whether or not they or any of them may have a settlement within the commonwealth, who shall have resided in the commonwealth not less than three years. No person shall acquire a settlement or be in process of acquiring a settlement while receiving aid hereunder.

State Board of Charity to have supervision, etc.

SECTION 5. The state board of charity shall hereafter supervise the work done and measures taken by the overseers of the poor of the several cities and towns in respect to families in which there is one child or more under the age of fourteen, whether or not such family or any member thereof has a settlement within the commonwealth; and for this purpose may establish such rules relative to notice as they deem necessary and may visit and inspect any or all families aided under this act, and shall have access to any records and other data kept by the overseers of the poor or their representatives relating to such aid; and said board shall, in its annual report to the legislature, report upon the work done by its own agents and by the overseers of the poor in respect to such families any of whose members are without legal settlement in the commonwealth; and shall make a separate report on the work done by the overseers of the poor in respect to such families in which all the members have a legal settlement in the commonwealth.

SECTION 6. In respect to all mothers in receipt of aid hereunder the city or town rendering the aid shall be reimbursed by the commonwealth, after approval of the bills by the state board of charity, for one third of the amount of the aid given. If the mother so aided has no settlement, the city or town shall be reimbursed for the total amount of the aid given, after approval of the bills by the state board of charity as aforesaid. If the mother so aided has a lawful settlement in another city or town two thirds of the amount of such aid given may be recovered in an action of contract against the city or town liable therefor in accordance with the provisions of chapter eighty-one of the Revised Laws and acts in amendment thereof and in addition thereto.

Reimbursement of cities and towns by the Commonwealth.

SECTION 7. For the purpose of reimbursing the cities and towns, as provided in the foregoing section, there shall be appropriated from the treasury of the commonwealth the sum of fifty thousand dollars for the operations of the first year.

Appropriation.

SECTION 8. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

SECTION 9. This act shall take effect on the first day of September, nineteen hundred and thirteen. [Approved June 12, 1913.]

SECTION 1. Reasonable compensation for medical attendance or treatment furnished by a city or town under the provisions of chapter eighty-one or chapter eighty-five of the Revised Laws may be included in the expenses to be paid to such city or town by any other city or town, or by the commonwealth; although such attendance or treatment was by a city or town physician whose compensation is by a fixed or annual salary. Such reimbursement shall not exceed the proportionate cost to the city or town furnishing the attendance or treatment, based upon the total number of visits annually made in relation to the total fixed or annual salary of the physician for all services rendered by him in his official capacity.

AN ACT RELATIVE TO THE SUPPORT OF DESTITUTE PARENTS.

SECTION 1. Any person, above the age of twenty-one years, who, being possessed of sufficient means, unreasonably neglects or refuses to provide for the support and maintenance of his parent, whether father or mother, residing in this commonwealth, when such parent through misfortune and without fault of his own is destitute of means of sustenance and unable by reason of old age, infirmity or illness to support and maintain himself or herself, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding two hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. No such neglect or refusal shall be deemed unreasonable as to a child who shall not during his or her minority have been reasonably supported by such parent, if the parent was charged with the duty so to do, nor as to any child who, being one of two or more children, has made proper and reasonable contribution toward the support of such destitute parent.

Failure to support parent under certain condition punishable by fine.

SECTION 2. Before the trial, with the consent of the defendant, or at the trial, on entry of a plea of guilty or after conviction, the court may, in its discretion, make such orders and require such conditions for the benefit of such destitute parent as are provided for in the case of a wife or a minor child by chapter four hundred and fifty-six of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and eleven and acts in amendment thereof and in addition thereto, and the practice thereby established shall, so far as it is applicable, apply to proceedings under this act.

Court may order in conformity with uniform desertion act.

SECTION 3. Complaints under the provisions of this act may be made by any such parent, by any child of such a parent, by the overseers of the poor of the city or town in which the parent has a settlement or by any other public relief officer. ¹ A complaint under this act partakes both of the nature of a criminal and a civil suit. Hill v. Wells (1828), 6 Pick. 104. The complainant is a competent witness to any facts tending to establish the paternity of the child even though such facts be known to others. Connelly v. Burrill (1852), 10 Cush. 492. A difference in the statement of the date when the child was begotten between the examination and the declaration is not fatal to the process. Such difference of statement affects only the credit of the complaining witness. Sayles v. Fanning (1859), 13 Gray, 538. So also with a variance in the place where the child was begotten. Kennedy v. Shea (1872), 110 Mass. 152. A complaint alleging the time and place of begetting may be supported where the proof shows two separate acts of intercourse at different times and places and the mother does not know at which the child was begotten. *Bassett v. (1855), 4 Gray, 69. Inasmuch as the town chargeable for the support of the child should it fall into distress, has a direct interest in the outcome of the complaint, it is not competent for an inhabitant of such town to act as a juror in the trial of the case. Haves v. Justice (1861), 2 Allen, 402. Under a complaint brought by a married woman living with her husband, it is incumbent upon the complainant to prove that the husband could not have been the father, since prima facie every child born in wedlock is presumed to be legitimate. Consequently a charge to the jury that the complainant "must satisfy" the jury that her husband is not the father is insufficient. Sullivan v. Kelly (1861), 3 Allen, 148. So positive must be the proof that the presumption in favor of the legitimacy of the child cannot be rebutted by proof of the mother's adultery while she is cohabiting with her husband. Hemmenway v. Towner (1861), 1 Allen, 209. But the process for bastardy, under c. 82, being civil in its nature it is in general sufficient to prove the charge by a preponderance of evidence. Richardson v. Burleigh (1861), 3 Allen, 479. Chapter 563 of the Acts of 1913, repealing chapter 82 of the Revised Laws, constitutes the complaint a criminal process. Consequently in trials thereunder, the charge must be established beyond a reasonable doubt. Under the former statute a jury might find one to be guilty of being the father of a bastard child upon the evidence of the mother alone, taken in connection with the record of the preliminary proceedings in the case. Noonan v. Brogan (1862), 3 Allen, 481. Evidence of intercourse with other men than the defendant more than ten calendar months before the birth of the child is inadmissible, if there is no evidence that the period of gestation was unusually protracted. Eddy v. Gray (1862), 4 Allen, 435; Sabins v. Jones (1875), 119 Mass. 167. Neither is evidence competent that the complainant was in the habit of associating with young men whose reputation for chastity was bad. Idem.

AN ACT RELATIVE TO ILLEGITIMATE CHILDREN AND THEIR MAINTENANCE.

SECTION 1. Whoever, not being the husband of a woman, gets her with child shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Proceedings under any section of this act may be begun in the municipal, district or police court having jurisdiction

Courts having jurisdiction of complaints in cases of maintenance, etc.,
of illegitimate

in the place where the defendant lives, and if there be no such court, then in any municipal, district or police court in the county; or in the municipal, district or police court having jurisdiction in the place where the mother of the illegitimate child lives; and if there be no such court, then in any municipal, district or police court in the county. If no court has jurisdiction as aforesaid, proceedings may be begun before a trial justice in the county where such defendant or such mother lives.¹

Adjudication to be final unless appeal is made to superior court.

SECTION 2. If the defendant pleads guilty or nolo contendere, or is found guilty, the court or justice shall enter a judgment adjudging him the father of such child; but such adjudication shall not be made after a plea of not guilty, against the objection of the defendant, until the child is born or the court or justice finds that the mother is at least six months advanced in pregnancy. No provision of law limiting adjournments or continuances shall apply to proceedings under any section of this act. At the sitting when such adjudication is made, if made after a plea of not guilty, the defendant may appeal therefrom to the superior court as in other criminal cases. Such adjudication, whether any sentence be imposed or not, shall be final and conclusive unless an appeal from such adjudication to the superior court be taken as hereinbefore provided, or, if such adjudication be made by the superior court, unless set aside upon an appeal taken ¹ Process under the former act was not confined to cases where the child was living when such process was begun, nor was it limited to obtaining security and indemnity for the future maintenance of a child from the putative father. Meredith v. Wall (1867), 14 Allen, 155. No complaint would lie under the former statute where the child was not born alive, since, until born, it could not become the subject of maintenance. Schramm v. Stephan (1882), 133 Mass. 559. Testimony as to the complainant's accusation at the time of travail was admissible at trial even though such accusation were not set out in the complaint. Bowers v. Wood (1886), 143 Mass. 182. And the mother was a competent witness to show that at such time she did accuse the defendant. Reed v. Haskins (1874), 116 Mass. 198. Such an accusation was held to be within "the time of her travail" if made after the child is delivered but before the cord is severed. Tacy v. Noyes (1886), 143 Mass. 449. See quære whether the period would continue till the delivery of the placenta. Bacon v. Harrington (1827), 5 Pick. 63. The cause of action accrued at the time when complaint could first be made. Leonard v. Bolton (1891), 153 Mass. 428. And a conveyance of property by the respondent after such date with intent to defeat the recovery could be attacked for fraud equally with any such conveyance in fraud of his creditor. Idem.

not later than three days thereafter under the provisions of section thirty-two of chapter two hundred and nineteen of the Revised Laws, or upon exceptions. Such adjudication may be entered by the superior court notwithstanding exceptions have been alleged or an appeal has been taken. The court or justice making such adjudication may within one year thereafter grant a new trial for any cause.¹

New trial may be granted for cause.

SECTION 3. If the court or justice having jurisdiction of any case under any section of this act becomes satisfied that no living child will be born of which the defendant at the time of making the complaint was the father, or that the defendant and the mother have married each other and the child has become or will be the legitimate child of the defendant, or that adequate provision has been made for the maintenance of the child, the complaint may be dismissed and any adjudication vacated; and if the court or justice certifies that such provision has been made, no further complaint shall be maintained under any section of this act.

Complaint may be dismissed in certain cases, etc.

SECTION 4. If the child has not been born at the time of such adjudication, the court or justice having jurisdiction of the case shall continue the case from time to time until the child is born. At any time after such adjudication, after inquiring into the respective means of the defendant and the mother, the court or justice having jurisdiction of the case may make an order for the payment to the mother or to a probation officer of a sum of money to be determined by the court or justice for the expenses of the confinement of the mother, and for failure to comply with such order may order that the defendant

Court may make order for payment of money by defendant for certain expenses.

Penalty for failure to comply with order of the court.

¹ A bastardy process under the former statute was not transferred to the superior court by "appeal or removal." The superior court exercised an original and not an appellate jurisdiction. The case might therefore be tried in the superior court on certified copies of the papers in the inferior court. Biggani v. Ross (1879), 126 Mass. 233. Upon trial in the superior court it was too late for the defence to object for the first time to the jurisdiction of the inferior court. Davis v. Sylvester (1890), 150 Mass. 451; Prince v. Gundaway (1892), 157 Mass. 417. An order of the lower court discharging the respondent ended the proceedings and the superior court had no jurisdiction to entertain the appeal of the complainant. Jennings v. Browne (1897), 167 Mass. 543.

be committed to jail, as for a contempt of court, for a term not exceeding two months, unless he shall sooner comply with the order of the court.¹

Court may make order relative to care, etc., of children.

SECTION 5. After such adjudication, the court or justice having jurisdiction of the case may make such order as may be considered expedient relative to the care and custody of the child, and afterward from time to time may revise and alter the said order, as justice and the welfare of the child require, and the order shall be binding on all persons.

Liability of defendant for support of child, etc.

SECTION 6. After such adjudication, and after the child has been born, the defendant shall be liable to contribute reasonably to the support of the child during minority, and shall be subject upon the original complaint under section one of this act, to all the penalties and all the orders for the support and maintenance of the child provided in the case of a parent who is found guilty of unreasonably neglecting to provide for the support and maintenance of a minor child by chapter four hundred and fifty-six of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and eleven and acts in amendment thereof and in addition thereto; and the practice thereby established shall, so far as it is applicable, apply to proceedings under this section and the preceding sections of this act.

Penalty for neglect to provide for support of child, etc.

SECTION 7. Any father of an illegitimate child, whether such child shall have been begotten within or without this commonwealth, and whether such child shall have been begotten before or after the taking effect of this act, who neglects or refuses to contribute reasonably to the support and maintenance of such child shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be liable to all the penalties and all the orders for the support of the child provided in the case of a parent who is found guilty of unreasonably neglecting to provide for the support and maintenance of a minor child by chapter four hundred and fifty-six of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and eleven and acts in amendment thereof and in addition thereto; and the practice thereby established shall, so far as it is applicable, apply to proceedings under this section. If there has been any final adjudication under this act, such judgment, order or adjudication shall be conclusive on all persons in proceedings under this section; otherwise, the question of paternity shall be determined in proceedings under this section: provided, however, that no proceedings shall be maintained under the provisions of this act in any case where proceedings have been begun under chapter eighty-two of the Revised Laws and acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto.

Final adjudication to be conclusive, etc.

Proviso.

SECTION 8. Appealed proceedings under this act shall be placed on the trial list for each sitting of the superior court for the trial of criminal cases until tried, and shall have precedence next after the cases mentioned in section thirty-two of chapter one hundred and fifty-seven of the Revised Laws.

Proceedings in case of appeal.

SECTION 9. Chapter eighty-two of the Revised Laws and all acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto are hereby repealed; but this repeal shall not affect any proceeding begun before the first day of July, in the year nineteen hundred and thirteen.

Repeal not to affect certain proceedings.

CARE OF CHILDREN UNDER SEVEN YEARS OF AGE.

SECTION 26. An agent of the state board of charity, especially authorized thereto, may enter without actual force any building or room in which such agent has reason to believe that a child under the age of seven years is sheltered or maintained apart from his parents and is not receiving proper care. The agent shall investigate the case and make report to the superintendent of state minor wards or other designated officer of the board, and such officer may, if he considers such removal necessary for the protection of the child from neglect or abuse, cause such child, if he is not under the personal care of a parent or guardian, to be removed to the custody of the board. An agent who is refused such entry or who is hindered in the removal of such child may make complaint on oath to a justice of a court of record, who may thereupon issue a warrant authorizing him to obtain sufficient aid and at any reasonable time to enter the building designated, and every part thereof, for the purpose of investigating the treatment and condition of the child or children found there, and to remove all or any of such children as herein provided. But the board, unless within a reasonable time it secures the commitment of such child, under the provisions of — of board. 1900, 254, §§ 2-4.

section thirty-seven, shall, upon request, discharge such child to his legal guardian, and if he has no guardian then to his father, and if he has no father then to his mother. The board may notify the person from whose care or custody a child has been taken under the provisions of the preceding section that no child of which he is not the legal guardian shall, without a permit from the board, be received or maintained by him. The board shall apply to the probate court for the removal of the guardian of any child under seven years of age who is unsuitable for his trust.

Penalty.

SECTION 28. Whoever obstructs or hinders the state board of charity or its officers or agents in the execution of the duties and powers imposed or conferred by the provisions of the two preceding sections or, after notice as aforesaid, receives a child without having a permit therefor shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars for the first offence, and by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than six months for a subsequent offence.

SECTION 37. [Repealed by 1903, 334, infra.] A police, district or municipal court or a trial justice, upon complaint that any child under sixteen years of age within its or his jurisdiction, by reason of orphanage or of the neglect, crime or drunkenness or other vice of his parents, is growing up without education or salutary control and in circumstances exposing him to lead an idle and dissolute life, or is dependent upon public charity, shall issue a summons requiring the person to whom it is directed to appear at the time and place stated in the summons and show cause why such child should not be committed as hereinafter provided. Such summons shall be directed to the father of the child, if living and resident within the commonwealth, and if not, to the mother of the child if living and resident within the commonwealth; if there is no parent living and resident, to the legal guardian of the child, and if there is none, to the person with whom, according to the statement of the child, he resides; if there is no such person, to some suitable person to act in behalf of such child; and a notice of the hearing shall be sent to the state board of charity. The court or magistrate may commit the child, whether he has or has not a settlement, to the custody of said board until he is twenty-one years of age or for a less time, and said board shall provide for the care and maintenance of the child without expense to the city or town of his settlement and may discharge the child from its custody whenever the object of his commitment has been accomplished. If such child has a settlement and if the overseers of the poor of the place of his settlement so request, the commitment shall be to their custody. The state board shall transfer its custody of any such child, who has a settlement, to the overseers of the poor of the place of settlement upon their request, and such transfer shall thereafter relieve the commonwealth from further liability for his maintenance. The overseers of the poor shall have the same powers as to children committed or transferred to their custody as are given to the state board as to children in its custody and, in the city of Boston, the trustees for children shall have the powers and duties conferred by the provisions of this and the preceding section upon the overseers of the poor.¹

SECTION 38. [Repealed by 1903, 334, infra.] The child, parent, guardian or person appearing in behalf of such child, and the state board of charity may appeal from the order of the court or justice to the superior court sitting for civil business for the county within which the hearing is held, and if said parent, guardian or other person appearing on behalf of such child fails to furnish such bail as may be required by the court or justice before whom such hearing is held, such child shall be committed to the custody of the state board of charity pending the determination of the appeal.

Appeal.

¹ "This is not a penal statute, and the commitment to the public officers is not in the nature of punishment. It does not punish the infant by confinement, nor deprive him of his liberty; it only recognizes and regulates, as in providing for guardianship and apprenticeship, the parental custody which is an incident of infancy." Allen, J., in Farnham v. Pierce (1886), 141 Mass. 203, at 204. "The inability or failure of the parent to furnish the relief is intended to show the need of the child, not to be the basis of a decree against the parent." Idem., p. 205. Consequently its commitment is evidence of the condition of the child, as in need of restraint on account of the neglect of the parent, at the time of the commitment, and is not binding upon the father as an adjudication upon his rights. He has the right upon a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to show that the cause stated for the commitment does not now exist; that he is competent and fit to have the care of his child, and that the welfare of the child will permit of its removal from custody. Idem. And this right in the parent is not impaired by statutory amendments providing notice to the parents. Kelley, petitioner (1890), 152 Mass. 432. But see dissenting opinion of Knowlton, J., concurred in by Devens and Holmes, JJ., idem. Sed quære, whether under the law as it stands since the amendments in 1903, 334, and 1909, 181, incorporating provisions as to notice and appeal, such a petition for a writ of habeas corpus would lie. See Wares, petitioner (1894), 161 Mass. 70, in which such a petition was denied where it appeared that the custodial authorities had given full and regular hearing to the petitioner, and in which no error of law or neglect or unfaithfulness in the discharge of their duty by the said authorities was alleged. For distinction between neglected and pauper children, and the interpretation of § 37 as distinguished from § 36, see Commonwealth v. Dee, Sup. Jud. Ct., Worcester, Oct. term, 1915; case No. 3.

commits an offence not punishable by death or by imprisonment for life.

The words
"wayward child" defined.

The words "wayward child" shall be construed to mean a boy or girl between seven and seventeen years of age who habitually associates with vicious or immoral persons, or who is growing up in circumstances exposing him or her to lead an immoral, vicious or criminal life.

The intent of
construed.

SECTION 2. This act shall be liberally construed to the end that the care, custody and discipline of the children brought before the court shall approximate as nearly as possible that which they should receive from their parents, and that, as far as practicable, they shall be treated, not as criminals, but as children in need of aid, encouragement and guidance. Proceedings against children under this act shall not be deemed to be criminal proceedings.

Complaint,
etc.

SECTION 3. If complaint is made to any court that a boy or girl between the ages of seven and seventeen years is a wayward child or a delinquent child, said court shall examine on oath the complainant and the witnesses, if any, produced by him, and shall reduce the complaint to writing, and cause it to be subscribed by the complainant.

Summons to issue, etc.

If said child is under fourteen years of age, said court shall first issue a summons requiring it to appear before such court at the time and place named therein, and such summons shall be issued in all other cases, instead of a warrant, unless, in the judgment of the court, there is reason to believe that he or she will not appear upon a summons, in which case, or in any case in which a child has been summoned as aforesaid and did not appear, said court may issue a warrant reciting the substance of the complaint, and requiring the officer to whom it is directed forthwith to take such child and bring it before said court to be dealt with according to law, and to summon such witnesses as shall be named therein to appear and give evidence at the examination.

Commitment,
etc.

A child under fourteen years of age shall not be committed to a lock-up, police station or house of detention, to a jail or house of correction, to the state farm, or the house of correction at Deer Island in the city of Boston, pending an examination, in default of bail, or for the non-payment of a fine, except as provided in sections five and nine, or upon conviction of any offence not punishable by death or imprisonment for life: provided, that a boy Proviso. twelve years of age or over, arrested in the act of violating a law of the commonwealth, or on a warrant, may, in the discretion of the arresting officer, be committed to a lock-up, police station or house of detention.

Whenever a child under seventeen years of age has been committed to a lock-up, police station or house of detention the probation officer and at least one of its parents, and, if there is no parent, then the person with whom such child resides, shall be notified at once of said commitment. The officer of the place of custody in which such child is confined, on the written request of the probation officer, shall release such child to him, unless the officer who made the commitment shall make a written request for his detention. Said probation officer shall notify such child of the time and place of the hearing of its case. Probation officer, etc., to be notified.

SECTION 4. [Supplemented by 1907, 195, p. 202, infra.] Summons to issue to parent of child, etc.
If a boy or girl is brought before such court upon a warrant, or has been summoned to appear, as provided in the preceding section, a summons shall be issued to at least one of its parents, if either of them is known to reside within the city or town where such child was found, and, if there is no such parent, then to its lawful guardian, if there is one known to be so resident, and if not, then to the person with whom such child resides, if known. Said summons shall require the person upon whom it is served to appear at a time and place stated therein, and show cause why such boy or girl should not be adjudged a wayward or delinquent child, as the case may be. If there is no such parent, guardian or person who can be summoned as aforesaid, the court may appoint a suitable person to act in behalf of such child.

Time for appearance.

If such child is summoned, the time for appearance fixed in the summons to a parent, guardian or other person, as herein provided, shall, when practicable, be the same as that fixed for the appearance of said child.

How summons shall be served.

A summons required by this act, unless service thereof is waived in writing, shall be served by a constable or police officer, by delivering it personally to the person to whom it is addressed, or by leaving it with a person of proper age to receive the same, at the place of residence or business of such person; and said constable or officer shall immediately make return to the court of the time and manner of the service.

Agent of state board of charity to attend proceedings.

If the court shall be of opinion that the interests of an alleged wayward or delinquent child require the attendance, at any proceedings, of an agent of the state board of charity, and shall request such attendance, of said board, an agent thereof shall attend such proceedings, to protect the interests of said child.

Hearings may be adjourned.

SECTION 5. Hearings upon cases arising under this act may be adjourned from time to time. A child that has been adjudged by the court a wayward or delinquent child may appeal to the superior court, and such child shall, at the time of such adjudication, be notified of its right to appeal. The appeal, if taken, shall be entered, tried and determined in like manner as appeals from trial justices in criminal cases. The provisions of section thirty-four of chapter two hundred and seventeen, and of section twenty-two of chapter two hundred and nineteen of the Revised Laws, relative to recognizances in cases continued or appealed, shall be applicable in cases arising under this act.

Appeal.

Care of child held for examination.

A child under fourteen years of age, who has been held for examination or trial, or to prosecute an appeal to the superior court, if unable to furnish bail, shall be committed to the care of the state board of charity or of a probation officer. The person to whose care it is so committed shall provide for its safe keeping and for its appearance at its examination or trial, or at the prosecution of its appeal.

A child fourteen or more years of age, so held, if unable to furnish bail shall be so committed to a probation officer, unless the court, upon immediate inquiry, shall be of opinion that, if so committed, such child will not appear at such examination or trial, in which case said child may be committed to jail.

May be committed to jail in certain cases.

Said probation officer shall have all the authority, rights and powers, in relation to a child committed to his care under this section, and in relation to a child released to him, as provided in section three, which he would have if he were surety upon the recognizance of such a child.

Authority of probation officer.

SECTION 6. Courts shall designate suitable times for the hearing of cases of juvenile offenders, and wayward or delinquent children, which shall be called the session for children, for which a separate docket and record shall be kept. Said session shall be separate from that for the trial of criminal cases, and as far as practicable shall be held in rooms not used for such trials. No minor shall be allowed to be present at any such hearing unless his presence is necessary, either as a party or as a witness, or, in the opinion of the court, in the interests of justice.

Court to designate time for hearings, etc.

SECTION 7. Every case of a wayward child or a delinquent child shall be investigated by the probation officer, who shall make a report regarding the character of such child, his school record, his home, his surroundings and the previous complaints against him, if any. He shall be present in court at the trial of the case, and furnish the court with such information and assistance as shall be required. At the end of the probation period of a child that has been placed on probation, the officer in whose care it has been shall make a report as to its conduct during such period.

Investigation of cases, etc.

SECTION 8. At the hearing of a complaint against a child the court shall examine such child, and any witnesses that appear, and take such testimony relative to the case as shall be produced. If the allegations against a child are proved, it may be adjudged a wayward or delinquent child, as the case may be.

Court to examine cases, etc.

Wayward child may be placed in care of probation officer.

If a child is adjudged a wayward child, the court may place it in the care of a probation officer for such time and upon such conditions as may seem proper, or may deal with it in the manner provided by law for the disposal of the case of a neglected child.

Care of delinquent child, etc.

If a child is adjudged a delinquent child, the court may place the case on file, or may place the child in the care of a probation officer for such time and on such conditions as may seem proper. If it is alleged in the complaint upon which the child is so adjudged, that a law of the commonwealth has been violated, the court may, with the consent of the state board of charity, authorize said board to take and indenture such child, or place it in charge of any person, and if at any time thereafter such child proves unmanageable, to commit such child, if a boy under fifteen years of age, to the Lyman school for boys, or if a girl under seventeen years of age, to the state industrial school for girls, until such child attains the age of twenty-one years. Said board may provide for the maintenance, in whole or in part, of any child so indentured or placed in charge of any person.

May be committed to institution.

Court to make disposition of cases.

SECTION 9. If a child has been placed in care of a probation officer, as provided in this act, said officer, at any time before the final disposition of the case, may arrest such child without a warrant and take him before the court, or the court may issue a warrant for his arrest. When such child is before the court, it may make any disposition of the case which it might have made before said child was placed on probation, or may continue or extend the period of probation.

If the court shall find that such child has violated the conditions of its probation, it may impose a fine, not exceeding five dollars, and if the fine is not paid at once, in whole or in part, may order that said child stand committed to a jail until the same is paid, but not exceeding five days. Said court shall suspend the execution of said order and continue the probation for such time as it shall fix, unless in the opinion of the court such child will default. Said fine may be paid to the probation officer, whereupon the order for commitment shall be void. If at the end of the period of such suspension the probation officer shall report that said fine is unpaid, the court may extend such period, or place the case on file, or revoke the suspension of the execution of the order of commitment. If the fine, or any part thereof, is paid to the probation officer, he shall give a receipt therefor, shall keep a record of the payment, shall pay the same to the clerk of the court at its next session, and shall keep on file the clerk's receipt therefor.

Disposition of child not to be admitted as evidence, etc.

SECTION 11. If it shall be alleged in a complaint made under this act that a boy or girl has committed an offence against a law of the commonwealth, or has violated a city ordinance or town by-law, and the court shall be of opinion that his or her welfare, and the interests of the public, require that he or she should be tried for said offence or violation, instead of being dealt with as a delinquent child, the court may, after a hearing on said complaint, order that it be dismissed. Criminal proceedings shall not be begun against any child between the ages of seven and fourteen, except for an offence punishable by death or imprisonment for life, unless proceedings against it as a delinquent child have been begun and dismissed as aforesaid.

Delinquent child may be required to make restitution, etc.

SECTION 12. If, in adjudging a person to be a delinquent child, the court shall find, as an element of such delinquency, that he has committed an act involving liability in a civil action, and such delinquent child shall be placed on probation, as herein provided, the court may require, as a condition thereof, that he shall make restitution or reparation to the injured person, to such an extent and in such sum as the court shall determine. If the payment is not made at once, it shall be made to the probation officer, who shall give a receipt therefor, shall keep a record of the payment, shall pay the money to said injured person, and keep on file his receipt therefor.

See, as to restitution, 1907, 335, p. 215, infra.

195 Mass. 197.

SECTION 2. [Amended by 1902, 544; 1904, 302, infra.] A decree for such adoption shall not be made, except as hereinafter provided, without the written consent of the child, if it is above the age of fourteen years; of her husband, if she is a married woman; of the lawful parents, or surviving parent; of the parent having the lawful custody of the child, if the parents are divorced or are living separately; of the guardian of the child, if any; of the mother only of the child, if illegitimate; or of the person substituted for any of the above named by the provisions of this chapter. The fact of illegitimacy shall in no case appear upon the record. A person whose consent is hereby required shall not thereby be debarred from being the adopting parent. If the child has been previously adopted, the consent of the previous adopting parent shall also be required.

¹ Under the provisions of § 1, there can be no such thing as an adopted child of one spouse alone where at the time of the adoption both the husband and wife were living and were competent to join in the petition. Davis v. McGraw (1910), 206 Mass. 294. Consequently, a decree of a probate court declaring the adoption of a child by a sole petitioner, who represented himself to be a widower but who had a wife living competent to join in the petition, is absolutely void, because under this section the court has no jurisdiction to grant such a petition. Idem. A decree of adoption of a child in the custody of the State Board of Charity, by reason of commitment under R. L. 83, § 37, does not operate to remove or impair such custody. Purinton v. Jamrock (1907), 195 Mass. 197.

Section 2. A decree for such adoption shall not be made, except as hereinafter provided, without the written consent of the child, if it is above the age of fourteen years; of her husband, if she is a married woman; of the lawful parents, or surviving parent; of the parent having the lawful custody of the child, if the parents are divorced or are living separately; of the guardian of the child, if any; of the mother only of the child, if illegitimate; or of the person substituted for any of the above named by the provisions of this chapter. Gammons* (1912), 212 Mass. 454. Consequently, under a will which contains certain bequests to a son of the testator and makes no mention of a child or issue of the son, an adopted child of the son takes nothing if the son dies before the testator. Idem.
